

Quality and environmental policy

Our mission is to provide independent, emission-free energy to the world by producing sustainable solar films that are so flexible in their use and application that they can be placed on virtually any building surface anywhere in the world.

We are driven by the need of mankind for a truly sustainable clean energy source, with which we can help to solve with our unique know-how in organic solar solutions.

We set high quality standards on our products and on the fulfillment of the market- and customer-requirements. We continuously strive to increase the value of our solution for our customers, which is not possible without a responsible manufacturing method. The progress of our research and development is incorporated into our manufacturing process through continuous improvement.

We seek and maintain close and cooperative contact with our customers and other market participants, and we keep ourselves informed about the requirements and needs of the market. We use this information to make our processes more efficient and effective, to improve our customer offer and to accelerate the development of new opportunities.

We are committed to secure the future of our company and of the environment we are in, reflected by our company policy towards Quality, Environment, and Health, and by compliance with relevant standards and legal obligations. In particular, we are committed to protect the environment, to avoid environmental pollution.

We are guided by the following principal ideas toward Quality, Environment, and Health:

- Optimizing the carbon footprint of our products via Life Cycle Assessment methodology
- Establish a sustainable use of raw material resources
- Strive for low-emission production processes
- Reduce waste as much as possible by an appropriate waste management system
- Reduce noise sources
- Raising employee awareness of the need to protect the environment

In order to achieve our company goals, we do not just rely on the experience, knowledge and skills of each individual employee, but actively develop our employees. We inform employees about quality and environmental protection measures. We motivate them to act with environmental awareness and responsibly at their individual workplace.

Our employees are developed and motivated to identify with the corporate vision and goals. Our company's success depends on our ability to continuously improve our offer to the market (customer-centricity), our innovation to market process, our supplier selection and supplier development, the quality and environmental management system and our environmental performance with the lowest possible production costs.

The company's management and its employees commit to comply with this guideline. For this purpose, appropriate structural, personnel and financial conditions are created.
